

Leochares: Alexander the Great

€980.00

Product no.: IN-013458

The desire for power is written on his face. He is a titanic, curly-haired young man with a faraway gaze, open, covetous lips and an energetic chin. Alexander was only 20 years old when he succeeded his father. In the following years he conquered the greatest empire that had ever existed before.

Original: British Museum London. Leochares. Around 338 BC, marble.

Polymer ars mundi museum replica cast by hand. Height with anthracite marble pedestal 49 cm.
