

Auguste Rodin: Sculpture "The Age of Bronze" (1876), large version in bronze

€4,400.00

Product no.: IN-194168

"The Age of Bronze" - the original title was "The Defeated" - was Rodin's first bronze sculpture. The decisive influences of his trip to Italy, during which he encountered works by Michelangelo and Donatello, are clearly evident. At the Salon of Paris and Brussels in 1877, this sculpture caused a scandal because of its distinct realism.

Original: Bronze, Musée Rodin, Paris / Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York. Created in 1876.

Version in noble bronze, cast using the Lost-Mould-Process. Height 63 cm. Weight approx. 14 kg.
