

Marg Moll:
Sculpture "Standing with Jug" (design 1928, remodelled), bronze reduction

€1,640.00

Product no.: IN-778536

She was a student of the great Henri Matisse and one of the first, if not the first, German female sculptor of distinction. Defamed as "degenerate" in the Third Reich, some of her early works survived the Nazi era and the war only by chance. This sculpture is one of the few surviving works before the Second World War. Its bronze demonstrates the artist's powerful and, at the same time, sensually concentrated creative power.

Cast directly from the original and reduced in size (reduction). Sculpture in fine bronze, cast by hand using the Lost-Wax-Process and patinated. Limited edition of 199 copies, individually numbered and signed, with foundry hallmark. Size 6,5 x 32 x 5,5 cm. Weight 1,5 kg. ars mundi Exclusive Edition.

Product link: <https://www.arsmundi.de/en/marg-moll-sculpture-standing-with-jug-design-1928-remodelled-bronze-reduction-778536/>