Franz Marc (1880-1916) is one of the formative figures of Expressionism in Germany. Animals were always among his preferred motifs. He placed more emphasis on capturing their essence in the picture than on depicting them realistically. He, therefore, painted cow, calf and bull here in the primary colours yellow, red and green. Like the ancient Egyptians, Marc considered the colour yellow to represent the feminine, the "gentle, cheerful, sensual". Green as a symbiosis of yellow and blue creates growth and wisdom. Original: 1912, oil on canvas, Munich, Städtische Galerie im Lenbachhaus.

High-quality Fine Art Giclée museum reproduction in 7 colours on artist's cotton canvas. Solid wood framing in gold matt patinated. Limited edition 499 copies. Size approx. 43 x 60 cm (h/w).
