

Phidias: Relief "Head of Medusa" (original size), artificial marble

€780.00

Product no.: IN-270986

Her name means "ruler". Whoever looked into her face was petrified on the spot. Perseus beheaded her after an unbelievable sacrilege. From then on, Athena carried Medusa's head like a weapon in her shield. That is how the legendary ancient sculptor Phidias depicts it in his statue of Athena. The legendary statue was destroyed, but this original-sized relief from the Roman imperial period has survived. Original: Roman copy after Phidias, Glyptothek Munich. Marble.

Museum replica made of polymer weatherproof artificial marble with suspension device. Size 46 x 36 x 14 cm. Weight approx. 14 kg.

Product link: <https://www.arsmundi.de/en/phidias-relief-head-of-medusa-original-size-artificial-marble-270986/>