Flowers do not only bring joy on Valentine's Day. James Rizzi presents a particularly colourful bouquet in his humorous 3D picture "Buy your Gal some Flowers". With his pictures, Rizzi tells stories about people, especially about people in New York, his home city.

James Rizzi, who grew up in Brooklyn, has been influenced by the lively and noisy city like no other Pop artist. Using the 3D technique he developed, he produced pictures that tell of the concrete everyday life of New York and, at the same time, are universally understood.

His art tries to bring a smile to the viewer's face, as the artist himself explained. Rizzi always saw himself as a lucky person favoured by fate, and it was precisely this luck that he sought to pass on with his art - just as lovers share their love with a bouquet of flowers.
