The painter Monika Taffet lends her landscapes a unique atmosphere through relief-like structures. She applies the oil and acrylic paints in layers that are sometimes several centimetres thick, creating a three-dimensional picture surface on the canvas. Within these rich layers of impasto, Taffet blurs all the contours and details of the objects - similar to Impressionist painting. The pictorial impression of colour, light and spatial depth makes Taffet's painting an exciting and at the same time, sensual experience.

Original painting 2013, signed. Oil and acrylic on canvas, stretched on a stretcher frame. Framed in a white solid wood shadow gap frame. Size 45 x 55 cm (h/w).
