Paul Klee, Louis Moilliet and August Macke's trip to Tunis made art history: Under the African sun, they revolutionised their painting style one after the other, found countless motifs in the winding alleys and dealt with the themes of form and colour in a completely new way.

Their first stop was the villa district of St. Germain, today's Ez-Zahra near Tunis. Ernst Jäggi, a doctor who was a friend of Moilliet, lived here. Even to this day, his house exists. And a century after the legendary journey, Macke's Tunis paintings still bear witness to his painterly genius.

"St. Germain near Tunis" (1914):

A selected work from the last and strongest period of Macke's artistic output.

Original: 1914, watercolour on paper, 26 x 21 cm, Städtische Galerie im Lenbachhaus, Munich.

Limited edition of 1,000 copies. The motif was lavishly reproduced on 225g real handmade paper with embossing. Framed in a solid wood frame. Size 38 x 33 cm (h/w).
