

Bruno Bruni: Sculpture "Owl", bronze

€2,400.00

Product no.: IN-749803

The owl has been a symbol of wisdom since ancient times. And that is why numerous artists such as Albrecht Dürer, Hieronymus Bosch, Max Ernst and Pablo Picasso have depicted the owl in their paintings and sculptures. Even in Bruno Bruni's graphic work, there is this nocturnal bird. And now Bruni has transformed it into the third dimension.

His sculpture shows us the characteristic features of the feathered hunter: the slender body, the alert eyes in the large feather sockets and the fangs on display. The textured surface gives us the impression of tangible materiality: it seems as if you can feel the plumage. The patination in golden brown bronze with shiny accents gives the owl plasticity and liveliness.

Sculpture in bronze, patinated, partially polished, cast using the Lost-Wax-Process. Limited edition of 240 copies, numbered and signed. Height 30 cm. Width 12 cm. Depth 14 cm. Weight approx. 3.8 kg.
