

Andy Warhol: Picture "Shot Orange Marilyn" (1967), framed

€298.00

Product no.: IN-369264

A special Warhol rarity, exclusively available at ars mundi: Andy Warhol's most famous portrait has only been published 980 times in a unique edition. This is a world premiere, as it is the first time that the motif has been published screen printed on handmade paper! In the 1960s, when Andy Warhol discovered a photo print of the film star and sex symbol Marilyn Monroe at a flea market, he did not yet know that he was about to set a milestone in art history. The first time Warhol experimented with serial alienation was through screenprinting. An very soon, he would have created an icon of modern art. Each screenprint bears the embossed relief seal of the Andy Warhol Foundation. The selected fine silver frame with bevel cut passe-partout and colour-coordinated inlay banding shows off the picture to its best advantage and creates a splendid frame for this exclusive edition.
Original: Screenprint with acrylic on canvas.

High-quality reproduction produced by screenprint in 4 colours on handmade paper of 250g with embossed relief seal of the Warhol Foundation. Limited edition of 980 copies. In high-quality object frame. Size 40.5 x 48.5 cm, glazed.
