

Peter Hohberger: Sculpture "Lady Justice", bonded bronze version

€980.00

Product no.: IN-387568

The sculptor Peter Hohberger became known for his expressive depictions of the human body, preferably borrowing his subjects from mythology. The fine abstraction, sensitivity and classical and realistic modelling skills give Hohberger's objects special expressiveness.

For his Lady of Justice, the artist wanted to avoid the Baroque pose where sword and scales are presented in an almost dancelike manner. Instead, Hohberger took inspiration from the depiction of the Virgin of Mercy with her outspread cloak, which appeared in Italy as early as the late 13th century. The cloak offers protection to those seeking refuge. Law, justice and jurisdiction protect society - a cloak that promises security to those seeking justice.

ars mundi Exclusive Edition in a limited edition of 298 copies, divided into two editions. Size 41 x 35 x 11 cm (h/w/d). Edition in polymer-bonded bronze. Limited edition of 199 copies, numbered and signed. Hand bronzed, patinated and polished.

Product link: <https://www.arsmundi.de/en/peter-hohberger-sculpture-lady-justice-bonded-bronze-version-387568/>