

Bruno Bruni: Sculpture "Solitudine", bronze

€4,900.00

Product no.: IN-719858

The artist's composition consistently follows the theory of the figura serpentinata, the line of beauty, as formulated in the late Renaissance and introduced into modern art in the 18th century by William Hogarth as the Line of Beauty and Grace. Bruni's "Solitudine" inspires a variety of interpretations. But beyond all meaning, his work offers the viewer a visual and haptic pleasure: The girl nestles in a shell whose rich brown-grained patination contrasts wonderfully with the shimmering golden bronze of her body. Solitudine has an impressive volume at a height of 20 cm and a weight of eight kilograms.

Sculpture in bronze, cast using the Lost-Wax-Process, patinated, partially polished. Edition of 190 copies, numbered and signed. Height 20 cm. Width 27 cm. Depth 17 cm. Weight approx. 8 kg.
