THE WORLD OF ART
ars mundi

Chen Wenling:
Sculpture "Shy Boy" (2013), bronze

€2,800.00

Product no.: IN-892152

Chen Wenling deals with various current but also timeless themes in his works, e.g. changes within society, the nature of human beings or the growing consumerism. His sculptures are full of symbolism and combine critical commentary with subtle humour. The sometimes grotesque exaggeration of the motifs makes them particularly striking.

This is also the case with the sculpture "Shy Boy", which shows a naked, carefree boy. However, it is not true to reality but rather presented in the bright signal colour of red and with surreal shapes of arms and legs. This deliberate manipulation of the human form makes him an independent and powerful symbol of freedom, naturalness and joie de vivre.

Sculpture in bronze, hand-patinated in red, cast using the Lost-Wax-Process on a pedestal of stainless steel. Limited edition of 999 copies, signed. With certificate. Size 30 x 11 x 9 cm (h/w/d). Weight 1.2 kg.

Product link: https://www.arsmundi.de/en/chen-wenling-sculpture-shy-boy-2013-bronze-892152/

ars mundi
Edition Max Büchner GmbH
Bödekerstraße 13
30161 Hannover
Deutschland

All prices incl. VAT and excl. shipping costs