

Dionysia Ornamental Vase (original size), artificial marble

€2,880.00

Product no.: IN-061786

The god Dionysus, also known as Bacchus, is considered the inventor of wine and was one of the most popular gods of antiquity as a symbol of joie de vivre. The nymph-like maenads and buck-legged satyrs danced alongside him. Place of discovery: Monte Cagnuolo. Original: British Museum, London. Neo-Attic, 2nd century BC.

Replica in weatherproof polymer marble. Original size. Height 90 cm, weight 75 kg.

Product link: <https://www.arsmundi.de/en/dionysia-ornamental-vase-original-size-artificial-marble-061786/>