THE WORLD OF ART
ars mundi

Auguste Rodin:
Sculpture "The Cathedral" (1908), bonded bronze version

€890.00

Product no.: IN-369325

The name of the Gothic cathedral, which reaches for the heavens, is derived from the Greek word "cathedra", meaning "seat of God". For the sculptor Rodin, hands were the epitome of creative and divine power. Without touching each other, they embrace the space in which the idea, the divine spark, is created, like a dance of hands. With his study Rodin elevates the fragment to the status of a complete sculpture, thus anticipating great areas of modern sculpture.
Original: Bronze, 65 cm high, Musée Rodin, Paris.

Reduction. Polymer ars mundi museum replica cast by hand, with bronzed surface. Height 36.5 cm. Weight approx. 11 kg.

Product link: https://www.arsmundi.de/en/auguste-rodin-sculpture-the-cathedral-1908-bonded-bronze-version-369325/

ars mundi
Edition Max Büchner GmbH
Bödekerstraße 13
30161 Hannover
Deutschland

All prices incl. VAT and excl. shipping costs