

Ule W. Ritgen: Picture "The Four Seasons: Winter", framed

€350.00

Product no.: IN-779738.R1

Ule W. Ritgen's "The Four Seasons" exclusively at ars mundi.

This series could also have been called "The Four Daytimes", because each of the motifs contains a variety of symbols with the same meaning: "Everything turns in a circle...", Goethe said, and he is right. For example, "spring" also stands for the morning, the departure, and "autumn" equally symbolises the evening and the ever-recurring farewell. "But it is the birds that give the pictures wings...". All four motifs come from the 12-part cycle "Wings", which was created some time ago in collaboration with the painter Susann Ohlendorf.

Giclée on artist's canvas. Limited to 199 copies, numbered and signed by hand on the back. Stretched on a stretcher frame. Stretcher frame size approx. 40 x 40 cm. Framed in solid wood studio frame with a shadow gap. Size approx. 44 x 44 cm.
