

Petra Waszak: Egyptian Coral Necklace

€298.00

Product no.: IN-711361

In ancient Egypt, corals were placed in graves as they were considered to protect the deceased from evil spirits during the transition to eternity. It was believed that the coral served as a divine blood splash for its wearer on earth, which established a direct connection to luck and wealth.

Necklace made of red coral beads, the large pendant is decorated with coral combined with 24-carat gold-plated brass elements. Length 43.5-50 cm, pendant 6 x 5.5 cm.
