

Auguste Rodin: Sculpture "The Cathedral" (Étude pour le secret), version in bonded bronze

€480.00

Product no.: IN-194244

"Why are our Gothic cathedrals so beautiful? Because one discovers here, in all the representations of life, a feature of heavenly love." Rodin believed that the gesture of hands raised in prayer gave rise to the pointed arch, the most important element of Gothic cathedral architecture.

Original: Bronze, Musée Rodin, Paris. Created in 1908.

Polymer ars mundi museum replica cast by hand with bronzed surface. Height including pedestal 18.5 cm. Weight approx. 2 kg.

Product link: <https://www.arsmundi.de/en/auguste-rodin-sculpture-the-cathedral-etude-pour-le-secret-version-in-bonded-bronze-194244/>