

Peter Hohberger: "Serpent Staff of Aesculapius"

€1,780.00

Product no.: IN-185115

The professional symbol of the physicians recalls the transformation of Asclepius. In 293 BC, a delegation arrived at his sanctuary of Epidauros so that the god could free Rome from a terrible plague. Ovid reports in the "Metamorphoses" that Asclepius boarded the Roman ship disguised as a serpent and brought salvation to Rome. Hohberger set a monument full of vitality and vigour to the god of healing.

Edition in bronze. Total height 43 cm including marble base, base 10 x 10 cm. Limited world edition: 199 copies, signed and numbered. Cast using the Lost-Wax-Process.

Product link: <https://www.arsmundi.de/en/peter-hohberger-serpent-staff-of-aesculapius-185115/>